

On September 23rd the IWAR Network's most popular event of the year, the IWAR DRAFT returns and you have a chance to be part of it. The Commissioner's of the eight men's leagues in the IWAR Network; ACW, BBL, BRL, CWL, IWL, NWL, RTL AND WTL each take turns selecting wrestlers who have entered the pool of talent for the IWAR Draft.

Step 1: If you want to join the IWAR Draft, you'll need to decide if it will be one of your existing wrestlers or if you'll create a new wrestler. You can enter up to 2 entries and they can be two different wrestlers, a tag team or a trio.

Step 2: Email IWAR Commissioner, Matt Riley riley1d20@gmail.com and include the name of your wrestler/s along with a promo that will entice a Commissioner to pick your star. (see examples of previous draftees a few pages on)

Note: Join the IWAR Draft by August 30th so we have time to load your wrestler/s into the next part.

Step 3: The September 16th edition of the IWAR Magazine will feature a Draft Preview section that will collect all of the promos from the draftees so all of the fans can learn about them.

Step 4: The IWAR Draft will be LIVE on a special edition of the IWAR Tubecast on September 23rd.

Step 5: The competition portion of the IWAR Draft will begin on the October 7th Gold run, so you will want to create or transfer your wrestler/s to their new league in time to compete for titles. The exception to this are the wrestlers who are competing in the NWL as they may finish out their NWL contract before leaving the NWL.

Step 6: At the close of the December 9th run of action in the Gold Federation, the draftee with the most points is declared the winner of the 2025 IWAR Draft and will earn 10 Free matches and a shot at the IWAR Revolution champ.

2025 IWAR Draft field (as of 8/19)

OUT OF CHARACTER IWAR Commish Matt Riley

Of all the events we hold in the IWAR, my favorite is the IWAR Draft. It puts the players on the board and the pressure on the Commissioners to pick the right star and this is a shoot.

The trades (see below for last year's flurry of trades) are as real as the frustration of losing out on a pick to the Commish who picks before you.

The response from the players who just got picked and those who didn't are real and that can get damn real.

We once had a player 'storm out' of the chat room as he felt his wrestlers were not being picked high enough.

If you are a player outside the IWAR Network, but want to give it a try, please do.

If you need inspiration, we're added some examples of previous Draft Specials. It really is great way to energize your game.

Our goal is to get 24 draftable entries and as of this printing, we are at 13. so if you want in AND... you will show up, compete and have fun, do it!

Thanks for playing in the IWAR,
-Matt

2024 IWAR DRAFT ROUND ONE

The IWAR's expansion meant 8 drafting leagues and a diverse collection of talent meant the return of the IWAR Draft. While the NWL rookie entries were down, there was a surge in new wrestlers entered from existing players who wanted to take part in the fun. A three-way tie leads to a triple threat playoff to determine the winner of the IWAR Draft which is won by GYD who gets by Greg E. Money and King Khan.

2022 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

Another year with the two-league draft and thankfully, a number of stars that paid off. The stunning pick of Zanroar at 2 overall didn't pan out, but it was a fun ride while it lasted. Honor Revolt and Death Row continued their NWL feud into the BRL and the IWL saw stables like Nightmare Court, Math Club and Taste for Violence pad the roster. A slow year in the NWL resulted in the IWAR Draft skipping 2023.

2021 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The IWAR's contraction to four leagues mean draftees went to either the BRL or IWL, but thankfully the draft class was bursting at the seams. The influx of new stars helped revamp both leagues, but hopes were high for the overall first pick. Which made his going inactive such a bummer as a number of angles were built around one wrestler that disappeared.

2020 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

Another great crop of talent included many females as the CWL looked to launch a Women's division to rival the BRLs. Picking the best can be tough and as they say "the best ability, is availability" and in less than a year, the entire first round was out of the IWA. While the results were revealed live on the IWAR Tubecast, the actual draft was held a week before, then flashy graphics were produced for the eventual reveal.

2019 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The BBL joined the IWAR and made big moves landing Barry Stevens, War Pig, the Math Club and Dixon Ticonderoga, while the CWL added NWL stars Outlaw Jon Nash, Monster Truck Tanaka and IWL great, Graham Underwood. Considered to be the greatest draft for its diverse draftees, many of these stars are still competing in the IWA.

2018 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

Considered the Draft where it blew up, the live results made tempers flare as Konik felt disrespected as the blue chipper fell to the 6th round! The IWL made a huge move to get The Chameleon as well as many of his NWL costars in a move that took the league to the top. While many of the CWL and BRL's picks flopped, Late Night Logan Kane and R.A. Rude were home runs for the IWA's longest running league.

2017 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

In it's second year, the first pick went on to win it all, but the numerous trades saw the IWL and BRL trade future picks in order to get the best available talent now. This was the second year of hosting the draft LIVE on the IWAR Tubecast and the instant reactions to drafts and trades made it a lot of fun for all who took part. (even spectators) Of the 25 draftees, only 4 remain active in 2025 (Von Snapps, Dixon Ticonderoga)

2016 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The first draft ever were a unit and the slick talking Greaser, Fingers Fairlane ran the table to win the inaugural draft. Neo's pick at number 2 and the IWL's trade to acquire Senor Lucha set the table for an epic rivalry with Luthor Alexander. BWM being drafted to the BRL was the only way to end their feud with the Von Snapps. Out of the 30 draftees, only 3 (Lucha, Jim Spur & Alec Von Snapp_ remain active in 2025.

Aggressive Intentions takes no bullshit. We are rewriting the entire history book of the NWL. Records fall every single cycle. By the time we graduate the all-time lists will be a written history of our legacy. There has never been another group of rookies that have done what we have done. Combined our stable has dominated throughout the IWAR winning big event after big event. All Rookie Cup, Revolution Championship, Summer Series, Johnny B Cup, Countless Rookie Brawls, 7 State Championships, 2 Specialty Championships, All time NWL Six man reign, All time NWL tag reign. That's in 8 cycles.

IWAR, you have been put on notice. Scapegoat and Aggressive Intentions are on a rampage. Veteran and Rookie alike do not stand a chance.

To the commissioners who are drafting talent. My former Manager Gene Poole has sold my contract to the IWAR and put me in the draft against my will. So, whichever league drafts me, remember...

It's all my fault... Blame me... They all do...

Draft Analysis: The Total Package U.S. Mayle (BRL)

Some of the others complain that my grade it too high, but I can relate to Marc's ordeal. His grade is on potential and not what he's done so far. Marc lost a good amount of time because he allowed himself to be distracted by the dumb fans out there. Now that he's shed them and some other so-called partners who he had to carry, well, he will be set to have a huge year in 2023. Anyone who boos him is just a bad person.

Summary: He is motivated to win and he has a Main Event aura about him, so it's going to be a big year.

If you think he's just a big strong man in fur trunks, well you right, but Zanroar show he more than muscles. Yes, he let temper run wild. Yes, he ignore ref when told to stop. Yes, he hurt others. But, he good. Better than most know. The experts may grade him low, but he has lots of potential, same thing they say about Tanaka when he go in draft. Zanroar will rock.

Summary: Tanaka not sure to summary, Zanroar is wild card, he could be big star or next Lance Horowitz.

This fella reminds me of a young Ghost Lee Shadows, who was one of the top guys in his time in the NWL before becoming a house hold name in the BRL. Despite his dark and sinister nature, he has an unusual pairing with an all-around good guy, the Everyday Hero, Oliver Livingston, that has been successful despite their differences. How will be do on his own? We'll see.

When he left the BBL, he captured the Diamond Federation title just two rounds later. This guy has a lot of high flying moves to go with some painful submission holds, a dangerous mix.

Summary: An underrated talent, who will bring the Math Club with him where ever he is drafted.

Inconsistency has plagued X who has shown flashes of greatness. He formed "Fight Club" with Dan the Beast Sovereign, but just as they got going, Dan split and X had to rethink his approach. The fans rallied to Fighter X side as he took on some of the biggest rule breakers in the NWL, most notably his feud with Stevie Vertigo. The leader of the $yndicate mocked the lunch pail lifestyle of the masked man and put up $25,000 of his own money to get Stevie in the ring, but the dastardly Vertigo used a baseball bat to cost X the match and $25,000.00 in cash!

The Chameleon

Notes

As a Navy Seal, the Chameleon was trained in the art of disguise. He has conducted sneak attacks disguised as other wrestlers, a cameraman, the NWL commissioner, and Vince McMahon. He is also known for using 80's and 90's pop culture references in his trash talk. He has been locked in a brutal feud with LePage Turner since his debut in the NWL.

Death

Notes

The sinister brawler has had a year long feud with Timothy Zastempowski in an effort to destroy the man who defied him. His manager, Jeremiah Cain made him the founding member of the Deathdealers and soon after his career took off. No league is safe when he's on the roster.

Joe Fantastic, Blake Valentine & Steve Larson

Notes

The Star Factory is one of the fastest rising factions in NWL history. Comprised of three of the most talented stars in the game today. Friday Night Joe Fantastic is a multifaceted wrestler. Combining speed, strength, and technical prowess. With a whole lot of showmanship and flash.

Beautiful Blake Valentine is a mat technician. He's in ring physiology leaves his opponents in a daze and defeated.

Stunning Steve Larson is a well rounded wrestler, but realise heavily on dirty tricks and tactics. Opponents never see it coming when he hits the Gun Stun.

Late Night Logan Kane

Notes

The most gifted entertainer in the IWA, Logan Kane hosts his popular late night talk show which has served as the backdrop for some of the most unforgettable moments in NWL history, including a league-wide attack on LePage Turner and the infamous beatdown that led to the end of Kutter Carver's once promising career. The 2018 IWAR All-Rookie Cup winner.

Keelan "Krash" Wendorff

Notes

The high flyer took the air to win his matches with took hold with the fans. He formed a successful team with Jordan Drake to combat the Carnage Squad in a feud that only ended after they graduated or did it? TMZ has tape of Krash at the airport suggesting that feud is far from over. Hmm?

Jordan Drake

Notes

You can never count out Jordan Drake, who kept finding a way to win to reach the 2018 IWAR All-Rookie Cup finals and tied the NWL record for most TV title wins. His partnership with Keelan Wendorff worked well and their feud with the Carnage Squad lit up the rings of the NWL all year long.
